

Family Law Paralegal leading to a Training Contract

An exciting opportunity has arisen to join an innovative department at a firm based in Royal Arsenal Riverside.

The role will involve supporting and assisting the Head of Family Department, as well as managing your own caseload. Work includes private and public law children matters, both legal aid and private, with a particular focus on care proceedings.

You must have completed the LPC or equivalent and have prior experience of legal aid work. You must have managed your own caseload and be able to work effectively alongside others within a team.

You must be committed to offering clients a personal and friendly service and be willing to conduct your own advocacy in due course (subject to experience and rights of audience).

You will be joining a friendly and dynamic department, which conducts work for a wide variety of both publicly funded and private clients. We have excellent IT facilities and make use of the latest technology to ensure we are able to offer a streamlined and modern service to our clients. We are able to offer a competitive salary, with an attractive bonus scheme and further incentives, by way of company activities.

The successful candidate may be offered a Training Contract/supported with CILEx training, subject to performance and experience.

Position is full time and available immediately.
